DEMANDS RECALL OF WHITLOCK

"The False Reports of American Minister at Brussels" is Charge

LORD CECIL'S SPEECH

German Journals Comment Bitterly Upon Utterances in House of Commons on Cavell Case.

Berlin, Oct. 30—An appeal is made to the German government by the Vossische Zeitung to demand the recall by the United States of Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium. The newspaper hints that the minister must go, and under the heading, "The False Reports of the American Minister in Brussels," says:

"It is to be hoped that the German government will seize the occasion afforded by the incident to put an end to the activities of the American minister in Brussels. According to his credentials, this gentleman belongs in Havre, the present seat of the Belgian government to which he is accredited. Should America desire, to be further represented in Brussels, it must choose for the purpose a personage acceptable to the German government. We cannot believe that the author of the colored reports about the Cavell case will be regarded any longer as such a person."

Lord Robert Cecil's speech in the House of commons on the Cavell case is commented upon bitterly by the German press. Especial resentment is seen in their reference to the declaration that the execution of Miss Cavell by the German military authorities was "the gruesome murder of a noble woman."

Washington, Oct. 30—Germany is "changing front" in her attitude toward the execution of Miss Edith Cavell, according to the above press report.

Instead of persisting in the Berlin version that the American minister Brand Whitlock, had denied stories emanating from English sources that he had interceded in Miss Cavell's behalf and had been "doubled-crossed" by the German authorities, the press today is asking for his recall bdenuse of his report on the case.

AUTO'S FLOP KLLS TWO

Head-on Collision in Another Case Imperils Several

Washington, Pa., Oct. 30—In an auto toppling accident near here early yesterday morning Ambrose L. Eakin, general superintendent of the South Penn Oil Company in this district and a Councilman from the Eighth ward, and T. Ross Johnson, agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad here, were instantly killed.

Two motorcycles happened along just as the car turned over, but found the two men dead, with bodies still warm, pinned beneath the body of the touring car and almost unrecognizible.

The aim of the Alexandria Boys Scouts is to make every Boy Scout a better citizen. It aims to touch him physically in the camp craft and woodcraft of the outdoor life in order that he may have strength in after days to give the best he has to the city and community in which he livees as well as to the nation of which he is a citizen. It seeks to develop him by teaching him observation and the knowledge of things far and near so that in later years, when he enters business life, he may be alert and keen and so be able to add to the wealth of the nation. It teaches him chivalry, uselfishness, duty, charity, thrift, and loyalty so that no matter what should happen in his later business, social, or national life, he may always be a true gentleman, seeking to give sympathy, help, encouragement, and good cheer to those about him. It teaches him life saving, in order that he may able in dire accidents and moments of peril on land and sea, to know just what to do and how to relieve the sufferings of others 30-1s.

BEHEADED BY TRAINS

Former Mayor's Daughter and a Puddler Dreadfully Mangled

Pittsburgh, Oct. 30—The headless body of Miss Sophia McCallin, daughter of the late William C. McCallin, formerly Mayor of Pittsburgh, was found late last night on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Roup, a passenger station within the city limits.

The body was so badly crushed that identification was impossible until morning, when her absence from the office of E. S. Morrow, City Comptroller, whose secretary she was, started an inquiry and it was established by a diamond pin bearing her name.

She left her office yesterday afternoon, but the circumstances leading to her death are unknown, although almost 50 passenger trains stop at the station during the afternoon and night.

The police half incline to the theory that Miss McCallin may have been robbed and thrown under the train that killed and mangled her. She was the victim a year ago of a $15,000 jewel robbery.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 30—A workman crossing the Lebanon Valley Railroad bridge on his way home from the Textile Machine Works, Wyomissing, discovered a human head and a few feet away the rest of the man's body, with the arms cut off as clean as if a surgeon's knife had separated them. Later investigation showed that the body was that of Joseph Ziegler, 60 years old, who was struck either by a freight or passenger train as he was walking along the rails. Zeigler was formerly a puddler and was last employed at a rolling mill at Sheridan.

KILLED AS TRUCK HITS POLE

Two Injured Men Lay Senseless in Road Long After Crash

Philadelphia, Oct. 30—One man was injured so badly that he died and another escaped with slight hurts last night when an automobile truck in which they were riding became unmanageable and crashed into an electric pole on River road, near Gallant lane. The injured men lay unconscious in the road for nearly a half-hour before a passing motorist detected them.

William Riabold, the worst injured, died shortly after being admitted to the hospital. His right leg was broken and he was hurt internally. Jacob Smith, the other occupant of the truck, was cut and bruised painfully, but escaped serious injury.

RETAINS AUTO SERVICE.

While the agency for the Chevrolet line of automobiles will change in Washington on Monday, the agency for this section of the country being taken over by the Miller Bros., the largest handlers of automobiles in Washington, it will have no effect on the agency in this city, the Mt. Vernon Sales Co., having completed arrangements to yesterday to retain the agency in Alexandria. The change will be in some respects a benefit to the Mt. Vernon Company as it will enable them to use all of the resoudces of the Miller Company and permit them to get all the cars they want as well as supplies.

The Chervolet is the sensation of the automobile world., because of its remarkable records for power, economy and first cost. The Mt. Vernon Auto Sales Co. will gladly give a demonstration at any time.

TROUBLE IN THE MEDICAL SOCIETY

Dr. Carrington Accuses Dr. Johnston of Unethical Conduct

CASE IS TO BE HEARD

Judicial Council of American Medical Association Will Sift Controversy in Chicago.

Richmond, Oct. 30.—Charges of unethical conduct have been preffered against Dr. George Ben Johnston, the distinguished surgeon of Richmond, by Dr. Charles V. Carrington, also a widely known physician of this city, before the American Medical Association. The judicial council of the American Medical Association will meet in Chicago, on November 5, to hear the charges, the exact nature of which have not been made public. It is stated, however, that the charges relate purely to questions of professional ethics, and do not carry even the most remote imputation of any illegal conduct.

Dr. Carrington declined last night to discuss the nature of the charges or to make public their character. They related entirely, he said, to alleged unprofessional conduct as pryscian and are for the consideration of the judicial council of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Johnston could not be located at his home, or office, last night, and it was stated that he was not at the Johnston-Willis Hopsital where he is the senior surgeon.

The feud between Dr. Carrigton and Dr. Johnston is said to be of long standing, and according to current gossip, had much to do with the defeat of Dr. Carrington for the presidency of the Medical Society of Virginia on Thursday, after he had been nominated by the executive council. At the executive council meeting those in nomination were: Dr. J. A White, of Richmond; Dr. John Staige Davis, of the University of Virginia; and Dr. Carrington. On the first ballot the vote stood: Carrington, 9; White, 3; and Davis, 1. The second ballot was 14 to 1, for Dr. Carrington, and he was reported the nominee. According to the Carrington faction, Dr. White, after being beaten in the committee, bolted the "caucus" and allowed his name to be presente as nominee on the floor. After the stormiest session in the history of the association, he was elected over Dr. Carrrington by a vote of 263 to 106.

Friends of Dr. Carrington do not hesitate to allege that this result was partly due to the efforts of Dr. Johnston and Dr. Stuart McGuire, of Richmond, who were known to have advocated the election of Dr. White.

Dr. Carrington issued the following statement yesterday.:

"Dr. White is 'a good old sport,' and always plays the game right. I do not believe he can realize the position into which his overzealous friends have forced him, viz., of sitting in the game downstairs, and then having the house raided because he lost his money—nomination, Dr. White will make a splendid president.

Personally I had rather be right than president.

"An extract from Article VI, section 1, of the constitution of the Medical Society of Virginia reads as follows, the section reating to election of officers, committees, etc: The executive council shall nominate to the society all offcers,' etc.; than later the following: 'The society shall forthwith elect or, in th case of boards, oppose each in the order nominated, but nothing in this or any other section shall be so construed as to prevent other nominations being made by any member of the society —except by a councilor.' Dr. McGuire Newton is a councilor."

The resolution introduced the evening before Dr. J. Allision Hodges, making a physician residing in the place in which the annual convention is being held ineligible to the presidency for the succeeding year, was reported back to the general body and adopted. Dr. Hodges's resolution, it is thought, will make a recurrence of the bitter political contest of this session impossible.

Easily featuring the scientific deliberations of the physicains were the symposia on tuberculosis and cancer, the one held Tuesday morning and the other on the evening of the same day. both bringing together some of the best-known experts in the country on the disease of which he has made a special study. Quick action—the necessity for treatment in the early stages of the disease—was the keynote struck in the discussion of both cancer and tuberculosis.

SHIPMENT OF TIES

Barge Lucretia to Take on 12,000 for A Northern Port

To complete loading about 12,000 railroad ties for a northern point the Philadelphia- owned barge Lucretia has arrived at this port from Occoquan. The vessel was docked at Smoot's wharf, and the ties she will take aboard, it is stated, will be brought to Alexandria from along the line of the Southern railroad. The barge Clara Brooks, which is also being loaded with ties at this port, is lying at anchor in the stream off the shipyard.

Ties being put aboard her are being brought by vessels from along the river and also from along the canal. The boats which brings ties from up the canal, after unloading on the Brooks, load fertilizer at one or the other of the Alexandria fertilizer manufacturing plants for Seneca, Md., and other canal points.

With the exception of the big barge William L. Donohue, which loaded ties at Alexandria for Boston, the two barges now loading are the first vessels to take ties from this port in several months.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Meeting to be held to Organize Five Alexandria Teams

Plans are now being made to form a basketball league in this city, and a meeting will be held in Armory Hall at an early date for that purpose. It is intended to have five basketball teams in the new league and each team will have uniforms of different colors and each will select an official name to be used in all championship games. If possible, a game will be played every night except Sundays and Mondays.

When the new league is organized the names of all players on the teams will be published and a schedule of games arranged. All young men who desire to join the different quints should make application to the captains in charge as soon as possible for a try out.

Basketball is a popular game in this city and the new league no doubt will be prove a success. Ladies who play basketball will also be invited to play exhibition games during the season.

SWANSON SPEAKS IN BALTIMORE

Virginia Senator Appeals to Marylanders to Return to Fold

PREDICTS A VICTORY

Says Wilson Needs State's Support and Speaker Recounts Party's Brilliant Record.

Baltimore, Oct. 30—Senator Swanson, of Virginia, in his speech at the Democratic massmeeting at the Lyric last night, said, in part:

"Baltimore and Maryland are more allied commercially and otherwise with Virginia and the South than any other section of the country. Political conditions in Maryland are similar to those in the other Southern States, and if anything has been clearly proved by experience it is that the Republican party is unable to give efficient, capable and honest state governments in the South. Whatever may be the record of the Republican party in Northern and Western States, its record in every Southern State, even in recent years, is one of disgrace and disaster.

"In recent years the Republican party in Virginia has proved so disastrous that this generation, who remember its carnival of corruption and failure, will never return it again to power. In North Carolina, Kentucky and other Southern States the pathway of Republican success made political chaos, corruption and failure. The elements constituting the Republican party in the Southern States, including Maryland, are such that failure must inevitably follow success.

"Democrats of Maryland, you must bury all differences and achieve a great success in pending election. Victory in Maryland this year will make Maryland as safely Democratic next year as any Southern State, and everything looks most propitious for the success of the Democratic party."

Senator Swanson then pointed out how the Democratic party had kept faith with the people and fulfilled all of its pledges and promises.

"The tariff has been reformed and reduced for the benefit of the masses, without injury to business. Both the Administration and Democratic Congress have prepared to defend American industries from unfair competition both at home and abroad, and the President and the Democratic party have steadily disclosed their willingness to promptly and successfully meet any emergency which may arise.

"The Democratic party has given the country in its currency measure a piece of constructive legislature unsurpassed. Heretofore large cotton and grain crops have produced money famine and every fall we have witnessed financial disturbance in order to move and market our crops. These evils are things of the past and today we witness the largest grain crop we have ever had being moved with the cheapest money and no financial disturbance or higher rates of interest. This is most phenomenal and proves beyond doubt the effectiveness of the Democratic currency legislation. We in America witness a world-wide war and our financial and money conditions easy and undisturbed. But for this currency legislation we would now be in the throes of distress financially.

"All pledges of the Democratic party have been fulfilled in regard to the prevention of monopolies and unfair methods of business indulged in by large trusts and combines. This legislation benefits all the honest industries of the nation.

"With regard to foreign affairs, which have been so magnificently handled by President Wilson, I can only say that the scholar of Princeton, in less than two years, by wisdom, courage, patience and assertion of American and neutral rights, has become the foremost statesman and diplomat of his generation.

"The splendid courage, amazing patience and great capacity of President Wilson, in the midst of confusion and excitement, have maintained America's strict neutrality, asserted America's rights, and maintained America's honor, and I believe that President Wilson will be able successfully to steer our ship of state through these troubled waters, without embroiling us in war, and bring to America greater prestige abroad and greater prosperity at home.

"President Wilson has borne greater burdens than any President since the time of Abraham Lincoln, each additional burden has but given proof of his capacity, courage and statesmanship.

"This is further disclosed by the program outlined for our national defense. There are two extreme parties in this country upon thequestion of national defense. One party desires to make America a vast arsenal and military camp, and the other party desires to have no army and no navy, but to leave our national honor and existence to paper parchments and moral persuasion and discussion.

"Between these two extremes stands the great Democratic President and party for a safe, conservative and sound policy of national defense and proper military strength. We propose to have a navy sufficient to take care of our vast commerce and to secure under all circumstances and conditions the safety of our Government and people.

"In closing, I earnestly appeal to the citizens of Maryland and Baltimore to stand by the State and national Democracy, the party of progress, responding promptly and patriotically to the needs of the people. The Democracy of Maryland has shown itself worthy of the confidence of the people. The present Democratic administration has leaned upon the Democratic Representatives from Maryland in all of its fights and efforts for reform and betterment, and all the Democratic Representatives of that State, from her two distinguished Senators to the youngest member of the House of Representatives, have continuously and unselfishly sustained the President and the Democratic party in their splendid policies, and to them, as much as to the Representatives of any State is due the record made in Washington by the party."

PROSPECTS FOR PEACE

Lord Sydenham Believes Germany Would Welcome End of Hostilities

London, Oct. 30—Confessing that he has no information which leads him to feel certain that current reports regarding peace overtures are true, Lord Sydenham thinks that they are not at all improbable.

"I should say," he says in an interview in the Pall Mall Gazette, 'that the overtures were mainly inspired by the now certain impossibility of German success in the west and the growing difficulties of the misconceived and dangerous advance into Russia.

"From first to last the Germans have not won a great military success, and, although every effort has been made to maintain confidence of the ultimate result in the minds of the German people and of neutrals, there must be many who realize that the prospects of ultimate victory are growing dimmer.

"Without in the least wishing to underrate the tremendous difficulties that lie before us, and the great efforts which are still essential on the part of the allies, it does not seem unreasonable to suppose that the Germans may consider the time has come to fly kites, indicating, at length apparently, their desire for immediate peace, although they may have another motive by this I mean a desire to intimate to neutrals that they have arrived at a reasonable attitude of mind and that the whole responsibility for the further horrors of war must rest with the allies."

STRIVING TO SURROUND SERBS

Germans March from North, Bulgars East and Austrians West

MONTENEGRINS AID

Roumania Expected to Favor Entente by Allowing Russians a Road Into The Balkans

London, Oct. 30—The Germans, with their Austrian and Bulgarian allies, are still making an attempt to cut oft the retreat of the main Servian army, which is offering such spiriual resisance to the invaders. Field Marshal von Mackensen's force advanced slowly from the north, the Austrians have crossed the western border of Servia, south of Visegrad, and are moving eastward, and the Bulgarians are marching westward on a wide front from Pirot, which lies southeast of Nish, to Zajecar, to the northeast of Nish.

It is, of course, a long way across and the country is difficult to traverse, but the Servians are bound to defend it as long as possible, as their great arsenal at Kraguyevatz is situated in this area, and they will doubtless hold on with the hopes of making an eventual retirement in the mountains along the Montenegrin frontier and in that country.

To forestall this the Austrians also are attacking in Montenegro, but have made little progress, as the Montenegrins, under their veteran fighting King, have had a long time to prepare for just such an event and thus far have beat off all attempts to throw them back. In fact, the Montenegrins hold some strong positions in Austrian territory out of which they will have to be driven before their own country is invaded.

There is no change in the southern area of Servia, so fas as is known. The report that Uskub has been recaptured is not confirmed. The French however, claim to have cleared the Bulgarians out of the Vales district. This, if true, would render Uskub an unsafe place for the invaders, in the opinion of military men.

In what other way Servia is to be assisted has not yet been disclosed. Some British troops are co-operating with the French in the south and others are on the way, but where they will be used remains a secret. Russia's plans also have not yet been disclosed, although from German sources it is reported that Roumania is about to throw in her lot with the Entente Allies and will allow the passage of a half million Russian troops through her territory to attack Bulgaria from the north.

Greece has assured the Entente Powers that her neutrality remains friendly to them and has pointed out that she already has given them assistance by permitting the landing of their troops at Saloniki.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Athens says:

"It is learned from good source that the French, after a three days fight, have occupied Strumitsa and advance 32 kilometres (about 20 miles) into Bulgarian territory. The Bulgarians lost heavily.

Reuter's Athens correspondent learns from Servian sources that the French operating in the Strumita region have occupied the heights of Valandovo Radbrava and Tattar Liso fre. These heights dominat Strumitsa which is not expected to hold out much longer against the French attack.

There is no recent news in Athens from the northern Serb front.

It is reported that Turkey is about to issue a decree for the confiscation of the property of belligerents owing to a threat of the Entente Powers to confiscate German perty in belligerent countries.

ELECTION NEXT WEEK

City Electoral Board Makes Arrangements For Selection of Senator and Delegate

The electoral board of Alexandria city has completed arrangements for Tuesday's election.

The Odd Fellows Hall, on north Columbus street, which has been the polling place for a number of years, has been recently remodeled and is not available this year, and a new polling place will be located at 817 Queen Street .Contrary to expectations no new voting precincts will be opened in the new territory recently added to the third and fourth wards.

The election in Alexandria city will be a tame affair, the only offices to be filled being that of state senator from this district and member of the house of delegates. The Democratic nominees, Senator R. Ewell Thornton, of Fairfax and Delegate J. Fred Birrell, of this city, have no opposition, and the only interest attached is the getting out a large enough Democratic vote to uphold the representation of Alexandria in the Democratic committee.

All of the saloons of ths city will close at 6 o'clock on Monday evening and will remain closed until 6 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The following list of judges and clerks for the four wards has been announced by the city electoral board:

First ward—Judges, Charles P. Waller, J. T. Buckley, David Robey; clerks, Frank D. Moore and Richard Roland.

Second ward—Judges, E. O. Rammel, J. J. Harley, Charles Hancock; Clerks, Hugh Moss, Conrad Schwab. Precinct, 114 North Royal street.

Fourth Ward—Judges, C. M. Lennon, Arthur Downey, W. B. Herring; Clerks, Lee Fannon, William R. Igoe.

Voters will notice in above announcement changes in the polling places of the second and third wards..

The election in Alexandria county promises to be one of the most exciting that has been held in many years. Every incumbent has several opponents and the contest has been apirited one. The greatest interest attaches to the election of commonwealth attorney. There are three candidates, R. Gordon Finney, Frank L. Ball and C. T. Jesse, The withdrawal of Crandall Mackey from the race several week ago complicated matters to some extent.

APOSTLE BEFORE FELIX

Rev. Dr. W. F. Watson, Pastor of First Baptist Church, Speaks at Union Meeting

The union services in the First Baptist Church last night were well attended and the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. W. F. Watson pastor of the First Baptist Church. The speaker took as his theme the scene of Paul before Felix and as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance and judgment Felix trembled, but sand go they way, when Ihave a convenient season I will call for thee.

The emphasis was laid on Paul, as a great preacher and the theme he discussed being righteousness temperance and a judgment to come. But in the face of the strong presentation of personal duty and obligation to live right and surrender to God, Felix deferred the matter, as many are doing today, saying not now, but sometime. The preacher urged, in a strong appeal, for immediate decision, There were two conversions

The services will be held tomorrow in the respective churches and a union service again Monday evening in the First Baptist Church.

Interesting News Notes About People of Alexaxandria—Happenings In Society.

Masked and attired in costumes that defied everyone to tell the wearers, the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes of the Alexandria High School had a merry Halloween jubilee last night in the Lee school building, the Junior class being the host at a masquerade and dance. From the moment the "spooks" and the other curiously attired guests began to arrive the frolic began, keeping up until the hour when all supernatural creatures had to retire.

Decorations in the hall were of autumn leaves, corn stalks and all the floral offerings of the late October season, a setting from which grinning pumpkins gleamed out their ghostly light. A fortune telling bower was erected at one end of the hall and in a room at the other end was a mysterious chamber in which a number of the guests disappeared for a while during the evening.

A large table was filled with Halloween goodies upstairs and here a most enjoyable supper was eaten, after which the guests hurried downstains and commenced the fun all over again. Music was furnished by Cunningham's orchestra.

Officers of the Junior class, who entertained so hospitably last night, are Elwyn Brawner, president; Robert H. Hancock and Waller Barrett, vice presidents; Miss Anna Haslett, Secretary, and TThomas Wattles, treasurer

CHRISTIANS IN STRIFE.

The discussion and partial schism that has developed in the Protestant Episcopal Church on the question of foreign missions has attracted considerable attention.

The Richmond Journal in speaking of the friction says:

Several of the extreme high church Episcopalians, who really are divided from the Catholics by hardly a hair's breadth, objected to having delegates from the American church sent to the missionary convention at Panama. The ground of objection was that the Catholic church practically is in control of the religious and moral affairs of the Central and South American countries and that it would be an unnecessary and gross affront to that church for Protestants to assume that it is not doing its duty and send missionaries to work against it, or in territory it is supposed to occupy. In ethics and in theory, there is some ground for this contention. As a matter of fact, there is room and work in Central and South America for all the Christian missionaries of real piety and ordinary human sense who can be sent there, provided they will do team work. The great majority of the members of the Episcopal missions convention, sitting in New York, voted against the bishops and other delegates and decided to send representatives to Panama.

If we can imagine the Archangel Michael, described by a great poet as a military genius, looking down at the course of the warfare against the powers of evil the Christians of the world are supposed to be waging, he must be filled with indignant scorn. So much strength and nervous force, so many of the years of the lives of good men, so much thought and money, are wasted on internal strifes and rivalries, on duplications at one point meaning neglect at others. Christianity is like an army broken into squads, without concert of action or effort attacking a common enemy;each squad turning aside frequently to do battle with some other. It is in missionary work exactly as it is here at home. We send to an intelligent people like the Japanese or the East Indians men representing a dozen different church organizations all under the banner of the Cross but each in conflict with all the others and trying to belittle and thrust them aside. It is no wonder that the Japanese say derisively that they will be prepared to accept Christianity when the Christians settle among themselves which has the true faith brand. And here at home we have hundreds of communities each with three or four times as many churches as it needs or will support properly because each denomination must have its own building, congregation and preacher, however poorly they may be supported. Instead of cutting down the Devil and his works, the Christians busy themselves jostling and starving and throttling each other.

It is said that on one occasion an enthusiastic Christian approached Nathan Straus, an Israelite, and attempted to interest him in the faith. After Straus had listened attentively, asked the arduous missionary to enlighten him as to true Christianity, as there are over one hundred different sects, all claiming an exclusive heavenly mission. Straus told the Christian "when you people definitely settle the question as to which denomination really has the keys of the kingdom of heaven, I will give the matter some attention."

AUTHOR OF "DIXIE" IS HONORED.

A year or two before the outbreak of the war between the states, when negro minstrelsy was at its zenith, Dan Emmet, a native of Ohio, was in Mobile he being a member of a company of burnt cork artists who were to give performances in the Alabama city. While there Emmet strolled round the river front and watched negro slaves loading cotton on steamers. They were working cheerfully and while handling the bales were singering a doggerel to music of their own setting. There was no poetry or thought expressed in the words, but Emmet's quick ear caught strains he thought he could utilize in his profession, He went to his boarding house and constructed the famous ode which has for years animated young and old south of Mason and Dixon's line, and which sent thrills through the wearers of the gray upon many a hard-fought field, as well as in others, at San Juan Hill, during the Spanish-American war.

Had it not been for this simple incident in the life of Emmet the stanza in Gray's Elegy,

Here lies his head upon a lap of earth,
A youth to fortune and to fame unknown.
Would have been his epitaph
But his memory is honored in a large section of the United States, and yesterday virtually every city in the southern country observed the anniversary of his birth, the school children singing 'Dixie', on the occasion.

Horace Greeley in his autobiography says: "Fame is an accident." The great American editor knew whereof he spoke.

BIBLE CLASSES.

The close study of the Bible seems to be appealing to people throughout the civilized world, at the present time. It is said that this has been caused by the fearful war now in progress, and it is suggested that during the civil war in our own country the Bible was more generally read than before that unfortunate chapter in our history. Bible classes are not confined to Christians, but they are being organized among Israelites also.

Rev. Dr. Abram Simon, of the Eighth Street Temple, Washington, has resumed the work in his adult Bible class, which meets every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, in the temple. The Book of Proverbs will be studied this year.

There is food for all classes in the scriptures, and the Book of Proverbs is said to be helpful in commercial life. The story is told of a retired merchant in New York, who had been successful in a long business career. Upon being asked by a young man on one occasion what guide he adopted during his business life, he replied, "I never read anything but the Book of Proverbs. I found all I needed in that collection."

The new product is the zacton grass, which is found in the Southwest and as far south as the Argentine Andes. It has been discovered by laboratory tests that the grass can be chemically reduced to paper stock by the soda process with little expense.

The holy union declared by President Poincare at the outbreak of the war is to be renewed when the clerical leader, Denya Cochin, sits side by side with the Socialist leader Marcel Sembat. The first action of the new ministry will be to radically amend the censorship allowing greater liberty in the publication of war news and greater liberty in the discussion of political subjects.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell.

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

Germans Not to Sink Large Passenger Steamers Without Warning.

Washington, Oct. 30.— A memorandum from the German government explaining the unsuccessful attempt of a submarine to torpedo the Cunard liner Orduna was made public here last night for the first time. It reveals that as early as July 9, last, more than a month before the attack upon the Arabic, German commanders had instructions not to sink "large passenger steamers," without warning.

The document also contains the statement that the same submarine that attacked the Orduna halted the American bark Normandie, and, though finding her carrying contraband, allowed her to proceed unmolested because there was no guarantee that the crew would be rescued if left to their fate in small boats.

This is regarded as significant in connection with the last note of the United State on the case of the William P. Frye, in which Germany was asked for assurances that if American vessels carrying contraband were sunk pending arbitration of treaty rights the crews would not be subjected to the risk of small boats in the open sea.
